We are delighted to have The Amish Outlaws as our main stage entertainment on Friday, August 8th.

Three out of the six members of The Amish Outlaws were born and raised with a strict Amish upbringing. No electricity from land lines, no alcohol, no musical instruments, but their spirits were too wild for the Amish lifestyle. Once they trampled in the "Devil's Playground," there was no turning back. In the years since leaving on Rumspringa, the members of The Amish Outlaws have become very well acclimated to the pleasures and vices of the

Our History
Founded in 1847, the Chenango County Agricultural Society is a membership corporation that has managed the Chenango County Fair for 174 years at different locations in the City of Norwich and Chenango County. Today, our fairgrounds span thirty-five acres with eighteen permanent buildings, and our property lies at the eastern entrance to the City of Norwich on East Main Street.

Our Mission
At the Chenango County Agricultural Society, our mission is to provide an educational experience for youth programs through our coordination with Chenango County Cornell

Cooperative Extension and co-location of 4-H facilities. We're also dedicated to presenting the annual Chenango County Fair held in August, providing the best public awareness of our major industry – agriculture – and a showcase for local livestock, products, and entertainment. We're proud to note that our event is one of the longest-running annual events in Chenango County, as well as in New York State.

5 ways local businesses can make the most of the county fair

County fairs are family-friendly events that provide wholesome fun and foods that are hard to find elsewhere. County fairs also provide great opportunities for local businesses to attract new customers. Fairs draw large crowds, which should appeal to small business owners who want to market their businesses in a way that won't bust their budget. The following are five ways local businesses can take advantage of the unique promotional opportunities presented by county fairs.

1. Put it in print.
Many county fairs hand out printed pamphlets or guidebooks that showcase fair history and highlight all of the attractions on display. These booklets are filled with useful information for fair-goers, but they're also loaded with advertisements for local businesses. Local business owners can place an ad in fair pamphlets/guidebooks highlighting their services and location. Include a QR code that fair visitors can instantly scan on their phone to take them directly to your website.
2. Sponsor an attraction.
Fair organizers often raise funds by selling sponsorships to featured attractions. If possible, sponsor an attraction that aligns' with your offerings. For example, local restaurants may want to sponsor an eating competition, even providing the foods competitors will eat during the event. If so, offer free bite-sized samples of the foods to spectators during the event itself.

Enjoy the Fair!

3. Set up shop on fairgrounds.

A booth on the fairgrounds can be a great way to interact directly with customers. Select a small sample of your products and offer them directly for sale at the fair. Hand out business cards with each purchase and let customers know there's more to be had on your website and in your store. Booths tend to book quickly, so contact fair organizers as early as possible.

4. Be prepared to engage customers.

County fairs harken visitors back to times when carnival barkers would attract passersby with boastful assertions or promises that were simply irresistible. Local business owners who want to set up shop at a county fair must recognize that all sorts of attractions and businesses will be competing for attention, so they should go there with a plan and a willingness to engage people who pass by their booth. Embrace your inner carnival barker and offer free samples and even prizes to draw potential customers to your booth.

5. Put out a mailing list sign-up sheet.

Even the largest fairground booth will likely offer only a fraction of what's available in-store or online. So encourage visitors to your booth to sign up for a mailing list, enticing them to do so by touting exclusive discounts and other perks available only to mailing list members. This is a great way to attract new customers even if they don't make any purchases on the campgrounds. County fairs are all about fun, but they also present great opportunities for small business owners to connect with new customers. TF227137

Poison Prevention Guidelines for Household and Chemical Products

- Keep chemicals and household products out of the sight and reach of children.
- Buy household products in child-resistant containers and keep products in their original packaging.
- Store food and household products in separate areas.
- Don't allow distractions to prevent you from being watchful when using household chemicals.

Every year, accidental poisonings result in the deaths of too many young children. Often, everyday household cleaning products and chemicals are the cause. Take these steps to protect your child against accidental poisoning.

LOOKING FOR AN AFFORDABLE USED CAR?
SICK OF BUYING rusty junk off of an individual or online and then spending more than you paid for it trying to get it functional or to pass inspection? At Central Auto Sales I take pride in buying quality cars that are still in excellent condition that can supply you with many miles of service in the future. I typically buy my cars from states south of NY to avoid the rust associated with local cars. I have a nice selection of cars in the affordable $4-6K range, most are low miles or low miles for the age. I'm a lifetime resident of Norwich. Buy from someone local. No pressure, no fancy hype, just quality cars at fair prices! Central Auto Sales LLC, 429 Manley Road, Norwich. www.centralautosalesllc.com 607-336-6371.
